Notice from the Fire Department

Install Seismic Circuit Breakers to Prevent Electrical Fires!

Over half of fires caused by earthquakes are sparked by electricity.

Over half of fire incidents after an earthquake are borne from electrical setups, wiring, or appliances. Looking at past large-scale earthquakes, 85 out of the 139 fires reported after the 1995 Kobe Earthquake (61%) and 58 out of the 108 fires from the 2011 Tohoku Earthquake (54%) were electrical fires.

Source: Fire and Disaster Management Agency (FDMA) 1st In-Home Fire Reporting Device/Seismic Breaker Installation & Maintenance Measure Meeting Documents (31 October 2024)

By installing a seismic breaker, you can significantly reduce the risk of fire.

Seismic breakers detect tremors from an earthquake and automatically cut off electricity. For that reason, they reduce the risk of electrical fires. Moreover, there is no need to operate it manually, so installing one can allow you to evacuate quickly out of your home.

Distribution Board Breakers

Built-in Type

Retrofitted Type

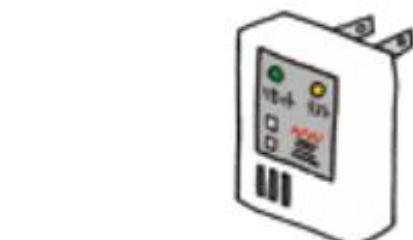

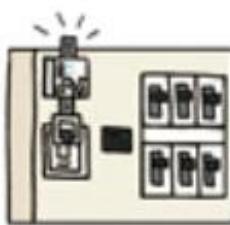

The sensor detects tremors and shuts down the breaker to cut off electricity.

Simple Circuit Breakers

Weighted Ball/Spring-loaded/Battery-Operated Types

Cuts off electricity if the weighted ball drops or the spring is triggered by tremors.

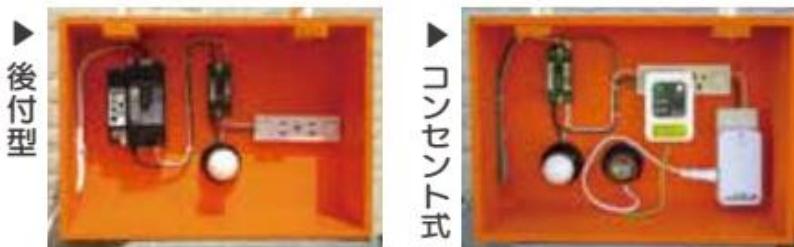

Plug-in Type

Triggers the electrical breaker by short-circuiting the electrical current when a tremor is detected.

Promotion Efforts

The Prevention Office at the Fire & Emergency Department has made a model to demonstrate and educate the public about the importance of seismic breakers. We plan to have the model on display at awareness events, drill trainings, and other such events into the future.

Tasty Tidbits of Knowledge

Repurpose your New Year's Leftovers!

Black Bean Daifuku

Have fun with different arrangements!

So many ways to enjoy!

Daifuku can change a lot depending on what you put inside of it. Of course, red bean paste is classic, but whipped cream, cheese, and fruit are also fantastic fillings! The combinations are endless, so you can play with different fillings and textures to create your own favorite flavor.

Tidbit of Trivia

"Daifuku" has an auspicious meaning in Japanese which translates to "big" (dai) and "fortune" (fuku). There is a theory that the word "daifuku" was originally written with the characters for "big" (dai) and "stomach" (fuku) because its shape resembled a large belly. However, the character for belly wasn't very elegant and was changed to the character for fortune instead. Its association as an auspicious food grew stronger, and now is a sweet that's still commonly served at various celebrations.

Ingredients (Makes 4)

Kiri Mochi (50g/piece)... 4 pieces
Water... 100 mL
Sugar...50 g
Simmered sweet black beans (kuromame)... 60g
Filling of your choice... Appropriate amount
Potato starch (to coat the mochi) ... As much as you need

Instructions

- 1) Combine the mochi and water in a bowl, cover with plastic wrap, and microwave at 600W for 4 minutes.
- 2) Add sugar and combine until the mixture is slightly translucent. Strain the simmered black beans of their syrup and gently fold them in to the mixture.
- 3) Dust a baking sheet with potato starch and pour out the mixture onto the sheet. Top with another layer of potato starch and cut the mochi mixture into four equal parts. Spread out the mochi mixture with your hands and wrap the filling of your choice inside. Pinch the mochi to close and roll gently in your hands, shaping it into a round ball.

*The mochi may be hard to pinch together, so make sure to remove any extra starch before wrapping in your filling!
